

PORCELA'BOBO SLIM TILE

PORCELA'BOBO is the development, complete production equipment manufacturing, product design, production, marketing and brand management as one of the professional building ceramics thin industrialization combinations. PORCELA'BOBO promote scientific use of resources, protect the global environment. There mission is dedicated to all the human science and technology research and development production of energy efficient building materials for environmentally friendly living environment and contribute to environmental protection. With innovation, science and technology, through the design and production of equipment design and manufacturing, research and development of new technology, research and development of new low-cost production of the facilitation of the installation of the system to create a full range of energy-saving environmental protection, new building materials. Our goal is not only environmentally friendly with this thin thickness instead of the traditional ceramic tiles, we are committed to creating a new green building skin, can be widely use in the construction of exterior walls, interior walls, floors and furniture at new material. By matching the output service mode boot the ceramic industry for the green revolution, so want to get into the ceramic thin enterprise has a lower threshold, safer, more technical point, PORCELA'BOBO reducing thin ceramic package of services will enable thin output faster, more safely ceramic industry industrial upgrading.

Collection :

Tosca series : Green organic material, natural, beautiful soft texture, light but with ductility, strong seismic capability and easy to cut. Beautiful and grave, elegant, various choice and absolutely no similar one, is the ideal material for luxurious building decoration. Rich color and design diversity, wide range technology, great adornment effect. Non-toxic, no pollution, safe and convenient for construction.

Available size :

(60*120)

- 4.8mm with polish and matt finished.

Paris Series : best describes the city of Paris, the largest city on the European continent, and the epicenter of culture, sophistication, and style. Those same qualities are embodied in The Paris Series from BOBO. With its wide palate of six distinctly rich and elegant hues of colors, and full complement of eight possible design patterns, The Paris Series offers a wide variety of differing emotions and overtones that could be applied in a number of different areas. Whether used in an exterior or interior application, this product makes a statement and instills an emotion upon first glance.

Available size :

(60*120)

